

Vehicles can be a source of inspiration and creativity. Many children dream of designing their own vehicles or even becoming engineers or mechanics when they grow up. By learning about vehicles, children can start to develop the skills and knowledge they'll need to pursue these dreams.