

Young Yara yearned for a yellow yoyo. Yes, she yelled,

"You're my yoyo!" as she played with it. Suddenly, she saw a yellow butterfly and followed it to a yard where she found a young yak. She said, "Yeah! You're so cute!" and they became friends. They played together every year after that.