

Astronauts wear special suits called spacesuits to protect them in space.

The suits have oxygen tanks so they can breathe and keep them warm or cool depending on the temperature outside.