

Victor was a very vocal voter. He valued the power of his voice and viewed voting as an important way to make his views heard. He watched a video about the importance of voting and learned that every vote counts. Victor was determined to use his voice to make a difference, so he voted in every election. He encouraged others to do the same, reminding them that their vote had value and could help shape the future.