

Greta the globe-trotting geologist got going on a grand expedition to study global warming. Great glaciers were getting thinner, green gardens were drying up and getting grim. Greta gathered groups of guardians and gave guidance for going green. Giving generously, Greta grew her great goals to get everyone to go green and give back to the globe.