

Art can be a way to make a difference. From creating awareness about important issues to inspiring change, art can be a powerful tool for making a difference in the world. By learning about art, you can discover the amazing ways that artists are using their creativity to make a positive impact, and how you can use your own art to make a difference too.