

The first New Zealander in space was William "Bill" Pickering. He was a rocket scientist who worked for NASA and helped launch the first satellite into orbit in 1957.