

Peter the piglet had a problem. He wanted to put his prized possessions in a place where they would be safe.

Peter pondered and poked around, but he couldn't find the perfect place. Finally, he decided to ask people for help. They pointed him to a part of the pen that was perfect for his things! Peter was pleased as punch with his new place.