

Did you know that ancient civilizations made incredible contributions to the world we know today? The Egyptians built massive pyramids that still stand today, the Greeks invented democracy, and the Romans built an empire that lasted for centuries. By learning about these ancient civilizations, you can discover the innovations and discoveries that have shaped our world.