Technology can be a great way to express your creativity. Whether it's creating your own video game, designing a website, or making a movie, there are many ways to use technology to showcase your artistic talents.